COURSE PROJECT

The foundation for this course is the mandatory course project. The project requires participants to focus on identifying a real-world public safety problem or ineffective/inefficient process and developing a plan to change or improve it. There will be an emphasis on choosing a project that serves to benefit the community the agency serves. After choosing the topic, the participant must develop a new process, procedure, or approach that will be presented to their respective Agency Head for consideration.

WHAT TO EXPECT

Each participant will receive a course pre-packet that will provide a detailed course description, as well as the preparation required to successfully complete this course. Each course will be overseen by a NUSACOP Course Coordinator who will serve to assist each participant with their course requirements or needs and will be available both during and after class.
